Description

A.W. Tozer emphasizes the importance of a surrendered heart in making God feel at home within us. When we free our hearts from conflicting impulses, Christ can dwell in us freely, sharing His thoughts and love. This relationship is personal and requires our active engagement, as we discipline ourselves to align with God's will. Tozer highlights that God desires a pure heart and a single mind, valuing sincerity and humility over material possessions. Ultimately, it is our inner disposition that creates a welcoming space for God.

Transcript

Once the heart is freed from its contrary impulses, Christ within becomes a wondrous experiential fact. The surrendered heart has no more controversy with God, so He can live in us congenial and uninhibited. Then He thinks His own thoughts in us: thoughts about ourselves, about Himself, about sinners and saints and babes and harlots; thoughts about the Church, about sin and judgment and hell and heaven. And He thinks about us and Himself and His love for us and our love for Him; and He woos us to Himself as a bridegroom woos his bride. Yet there is nothing formal or automatic about His operations within us. We are personalities and we are engaged with personality.

We are intelligent and have wills of our own.

We can, so to speak, stand outside of ourselves and discipline ourselves into accord with the will of God. We can commune with our own hearts upon our beds and be still. We can talk to our God in the night watches. We can learn what He wants us to be, and pray and work to prepare Him a habitation. And what kind of habitation pleases God? What must our natures be like before He can feel at home within us? He asks nothing but a pure heart and a single mind. He asks no rich paneling, no rugs from the Orient, no art treasures from afar. He desires but sincerity, transparency, humility, and love. He will see to the rest.
