Description

A.W. Tozer emphasizes the need for spiritual power in Christian churches, urging believers to return to the New Testament patterns that provide a solid foundation for faith. He highlights Hebrews 13:8, which proclaims that Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever, as a central truth that can revitalize the church's testimony and power. Tozer calls for a demonstration of faith and the will to embody this eternal verity in a world that desperately needs it. He believes that recognizing Jesus as the ever-living, unchanging Lord can restore the vitality of the early church's witness.

Transcript

There is a great deal of discussion now taking place about the lack of spiritual power in our Christian churches. What about the New Testament patterns? Brethren, the apostolic method was to provide a foundation of good, sound biblical reasons for following the Savior, for our willingness to let the Spirit of God display the great Christian virtues in our lives. That is why we come in faith and rejoicing to the eternal verity of Hebrews 13:8, Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever!" This proclamation gives significance to every other section of teaching and exhortation in the letter to the Hebrews.

In this verse is truth that is morally and spiritually dynamic if we will exercise the faith and the will to demonstrate it in our needy world.

I think this fact, this truth that Jesus Christ wants to be known in His church as the ever-living, never-changing Lord of all, could bring back again the power and testimony of the early church!
