

No Need to Stint

by C.H. Spurgeon

As believers, we possess a secure inheritance and a guarantee of God's blessings, which we can enjoy and rely on.

Scripture: Psalm 23:1, Proverbs 28:10, Matthew 6:33, John 14:27, Romans 8:32, 1 Corinthians 3:21-23, 2 Corinthians 1:20, Ephesians 1:3, Philippians 4:19, Hebrews 13:5

Topics: "God's Promises", "Abundance in Christ"

Description

C.H. Spurgeon emphasizes that the upright will possess good things as promised in Proverbs 28:10, highlighting that our blessings are not just future hopes but present realities. He reassures believers that no enemy can thwart their inheritance, which includes a quiet conscience, God's unwavering love, and the power of prayer. Spurgeon encourages Christians to recognize the abundance they already have through Christ, including the presence of the Holy Spirit and the assurance of God's providence. He calls for a life of joy and reliance on God, urging believers to rejoice rather than to live in fear or want.

Transcript

The upright shall have good things in possession. (Proverbs 28:10)

The book of Proverbs is also a book of promises. Promises ought to be proverbs among the people of God. This is a very remarkable one. We are accustomed to think of our good things as in reversion, but here we are told that we shall have them in possession. Not all the malice and cunning of our enemies can work our destruction: they shall fall into the pit which they have digged. Our inheritance is so entailed upon us that we shall not be kept out of it, nor so turned out of the way as to miss it. But what have we now? We have a quiet conscience through the precious blood of Jesus. We have the love of God set upon us beyond all change. We have power with God in prayer in all time of need.

We have the providence of God to watch over us, the angels of God to minister to us, and, above all, the Spirit of God to dwell in us. In fact, all things are ours. "Whether things present or things to come: all are yours." Jesus is ours. Yea, the divine Trinity in unity is ours. Hallelujah. Let us not pine and whine and stint and slave, since we have good things in possession. Let us live on our God and rejoice in Him all the day. Help us, O Holy Ghost!
