

The Eyes of God See It All

by C.H. Spurgeon

C.H. Spurgeon's sermon emphasizes God's sovereignty and justice, assuring believers that He sees all and will ultimately right the wrongs in the world.

Scripture: Psalm 9:7-8, Psalm 46:10, Psalm 75:7, Proverbs 21:15, Ecclesiastes 3:17, Isaiah 61:8, Romans 12:19, 2 Thessalonians 1:6, Hebrews 10:30, Revelation 20:12

Topics: "God's Sovereignty", "Justice and Righteousness"

Description

C.H. Spurgeon emphasizes the joy and assurance that comes from knowing God is sovereign and sees all injustices in the world. He reassures the righteous that God holds all power and will ultimately bring justice against tyranny and cruelty. Spurgeon encourages believers to remain patient and steadfast, trusting that God will avenge wrongdoings and uphold the cause of the oppressed. The sermon highlights the importance of faith in God's ultimate authority and righteousness, reminding us that no act of injustice goes unnoticed by Him.

Transcript

It ought to be a subject of great joy to all righteous souls that the world is not left to itself, or to tyrants: the might is with the right after all, for power belongeth unto God. There is a Governor and Ruler who is Lord of all, and all power is in his hand. Have you not often wished more power to the arm of the man who attacks insolence and cruelty? Be glad, then, that all power is in the hand of the Judge of all the earth, who must and will do right. He will not leave bloodshed unavenged, nor suffer wanton cruelty and horrible brutality to go unpunished; and if the great ones of the earth pass by with indifference, or wink the eye in wicked policy, there is an eye that sees, and a hand that will mete out vengeance stern and sure.

In patience possess your souls, O ye people of God, for "God reigneth over the heathen, he sitteth upon the throne of his holiness." The needy shall not always be forgotten, nor the oppressed for ever trodden down, for verily the Lord reigneth, and his power shall defend the cause of right.

From a sermon by Charles Haddon Spurgeon entitled "The Mighty Arm," delivered September 17, 1876.

Source: <https://sermonindex.net/speakers/ch-spurgeon/the-eyes-of-god-see-it-all/>

Grow in Your Walk with Christ

Listen and read messages that will stir your heart for Christ and point you to deeper repentance and devotion.

- 50,000+ Sermons from speakers past and present
- 3,900+ Classic Christian Books freely readable online
- 1,200+ Bible Translations and Commentaries
- Over 450k forum posts — Join our vibrant online Christian forum

www.sermonindex.net