

Peace Restored to the Church

by Clement of Rome

The sermon emphasizes the importance of noble-mindedness, humility, and obedience in maintaining peace and unity within the church.

Scripture: Romans 15:5, 1 Corinthians 1:10, Philippians 2:3, Colossians 3:14, 1 Peter 3:8

Topics: "Church Unity", "Godly Living"

Description

Clement of Rome emphasizes the importance of noble-mindedness, compassion, and love within the Christian community, urging individuals to prioritize peace and unity over personal preferences or disagreements. He encourages those who are willing to sacrifice their own desires for the greater good of the church to receive great glory in the Lord and be welcomed everywhere. Clement reminds believers that living a godly life, characterized by selflessness and unity, aligns with God's will and brings eternal blessings.

Transcript

Who then among you is noble-minded? who compassionate? who full of love? Let him declare, "If on my account sedition and disagreement and schisms have arisen, I will depart, I will go away whithersoever you desire, and I will do whatever the majority commands; only let the flock of Christ live on terms of peace with the presbyters set over it."

He that acts thus shall procure to himself great glory in the Lord; and every place will welcome him. For "the earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof." These things they who live a godly life, that is never to be repented of, both have done and always will do.
