Topics: "The Holy Spirit", "Spiritual Life"

Description

D.L. Moody emphasizes the vital role of the Holy Spirit in imparting spiritual life and power to believers, arguing that without this divine quickening, religious rituals are meaningless. He highlights the necessity of understanding the Holy Spirit's attributes and presence, as many Christians lack a personal relationship with Him. Moody calls for a greater manifestation of the Holy Spirit's power within the Church, acknowledging past ignorance and dishonor towards Him. He stresses that the Holy Spirit not only gives life but also sustains it, ensuring that believers are continually empowered. The sermon encourages a deeper prayer life and awareness of the Holy Spirit's work in our lives.

"Without the soul, divinely quickened and inspired, the observances of the grandest ritualism are as worthless as the motions of a galvanized corpse." -Anon.

I quote this sentence, as it leads me at once to the subject under consideration. What is this quickening and inspiration? What is this power needed? From whence its source? I reply: The Holy Spirit of God. I am a full believer in "The Apostles' Creed," and therefore "I believe in the Holy Ghost."

A writer has pointedly asked: "What are our souls without His grace? - as dead as the branch in which the sap does not circulate. What is the Church without Him? - as parched and barren as the fields without the dew and rain of heaven."

There has been much inquiry of late on the subject of the Holy Spirit. In this and other lands thousands of persons have been giving attention to the study of this grand theme. I hope it will lead us all to pray for the greater manifestation of His power upon the whole Church of God. How much we have dishonored Him in the past! How ignorant of His grace, and love and presence we have been? True, we have heard of Him and read of Him, but we have had little intelligent knowledge of His attributes, His offices and His relations to us. I fear He has not been to many professed Christians an actual existence, nor is He known to them as a personality of the Godhead.

The first work of the Spirit is to give life; spiritual life. He gives it and He sustains it. If there is no life, there can be no power; Solomon says: "A living dog is better than a dead lion." When the Spirit imparts this life, He does not leave us to droop and die, but constantly fans the flame. He is ever with us. Surely we ought not to be ignorant of His power and His work.
