

You Have Left Your First Love

by Leonard Ravenhill

This sermon emphasizes the importance of not losing but rather leaving our first love, drawing a parallel to losing and finding a cherished possession. It highlights the need to rekindle the initial passion and devotion we had for God, as seen in the message to the church in Revelation about returning to that fervent love for Him.

Scripture: Revelation 2:4, Matthew 22:37, 1 John 4:19

Topics: "Returning to First Love", "Rekindling Passion for God"

Description

This sermon emphasizes the importance of not losing but rather leaving our first love, drawing a parallel to losing and finding a cherished possession. It highlights the need to rekindle the initial passion and devotion we had for God, as seen in the message to the church in Revelation about returning to that fervent love for Him.

Transcript

So many people lose their first love. That's not what the Bible says. The Bible says, thou hast left thy first love.

You don't lose it. I've got an old coat. Must have been 20 years.

I lost it this week. Boy, was I upset. It's out of style, but it's good to me.

Keeps me warm. I was glad when I found it. I lost it.

But the address to the people there in the book of the revelation is the people who left their first love. Something else got them and they gave all their consuming passion and desire to that one thing that they got hold of again.
