Description

In this sermon, the preacher encourages the audience to buy white ring and ice ice to solve the problem of their sinful condition. He uses the analogy of gold being refined in fire to explain the process of purifying one's life. The preacher emphasizes that when we place our lives in God's hands and allow Him to refine us, we become a pure and beautiful image of His choosing. The sermon concludes with the preacher urging the audience to reflect on their true selves and the true issue of life.
