Description

Mary Wilder Tileston emphasizes the importance of being rich toward God rather than solely focusing on earthly treasures, highlighting the value of daily cross-bearing, self-denial, and enduring trials with patience and cheerfulness as ways to enrich our relationship with God. She encourages viewing troubles and trials as opportunities for blessings, sent by God for our growth and transformation. Surrendering all our worries and cares to God's hands, even the smallest things we cannot comprehend, leads to a transformation of burdens into blessings.

Transcript

So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.

--LUKE 12:21

IT seems as if God gathered into His storehouse, from each of our lives, fruit in which He delights. And the daily cross-bearings and self-denials, the bright word spoken when head and heart are weary, the meek endurance of misunderstanding, the steady going on in one unbroken round, with a patient cheerfulness that knows nothing of "moods,"--all these are garnered there, and add to our riches towards Him.

--H. BOWMAN

IT is a great matter to learn to look upon troubles and trials not as simply evils. How can that be evil which God sends? And those who can repress complaints, murmurs, and peevish bemoaning--better still, the vexed feelings which beset us when those around inflict petty annoyances and slights on us--will really find that their little daily worries are turning into blessings.

--H. L. Sidney LEAR

Just to leave in His dear hand

Little things;

All we cannot understand,

All that stings.

Just to let Him take the care

Sorely pressing,

Finding all we let Him bear

Changed to blessing.
