

Its Either Revival Or We Die

by Shane Idleman

This sermon emphasizes the distinction between mere desire and true desperation in seeking God. It illustrates the concept of being thirsty versus being absolutely famished for God's presence, highlighting the urgency and intensity required in pursuing Him. The speaker stresses the critical choice between experiencing revival or facing spiritual death, particularly in the context of the nation's spiritual state.

Scripture: Psalm 42:1, Matthew 5:6, James 4:8, 2 Chronicles 7:14

Topics: "Desperation for God", "Spiritual Revival"

Transcript

It's really between desire and desperation. Because you can have a desire for something, but until you're desperate, it's going to be hard to find that longing for God. That's what sets the difference.

I'm thirsty somewhat versus absolutely famished, and I have to find that water. And guys, I'll shoot you straight. It's either revival or we die, where our nation is.
