Transcript

Back years ago, in 2003, when Paul Washer was here, he told me the first time that he preached, not on the street, but he was asked to preach a conference, he said he stood on the platform and he could only say several times something like, God loves you, God loves you. He said that two or three times, and he said the presence of God was so great on that platform, he had to leave, and he ran down the stairs into the basement, fell on his face, began praying. He said, through the floorboards, he heard like a herd of elephants stampeding.

People were falling out of the pews. Brethren, we've got to have the glory when they come on the tabernacle. We've got to have the glory in the temple.
